CEILING FOR RAW COTTON IS PROPOSED

Washington, Feb. 12—(P)—Under hurry-up orders from Director Michael V. DiSalle, the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) today prepared to put a ceiling on raw cotton high enough to appease southern senators but low enough to keep clothing prices within bounds.

DiSalle reportedly was convinced that a ceiling close to 45 cents a pound would be liberal enough to reduce heavy cotton plantings even though far from the complete decontrol which cotton interests seek.

Sixteen cotton-state senators last Tuesday carried to President Truman the decontrol proposal, arguing that the removal of ceilings would stimulate production and thus stabilize the market. The government has asked for a 60 per cent increase in cotton output this year, to relieve the present shortage.

Trade sources report that OPS' Jan. 26 price order froze some sellers as low as 42 cents and others as high as 47. DiSalle is said to favor giving ground on the lowest and rolling back the highest—but is definitely opposed to scrapping raw cotton ceilings entirely.

Meantime the country's commodity exchanges, many of which closed down after the big price freeze, showed signs of coming to life as a result of new orders made effective by OPS today.

Results of several other OPS actions included:

1. Sugar was removed entirely from control.
2. "Raw and unprocessed" farm products were free from control, regardless of who buys or sells them, as long as their prices remain below parity. Until now raw (Turn to Page Seven)

Republicans Squabble Among Selves On Foreign Policy in Lincoln Day Talks

By The Associated Press
Republicans squabbled among themselves over foreign policy and "me-tooism" today but generally agreed there are still "pinkos" in the government. They all called for budget cuts.

In Lincoln day political speeches across the nation, the GOP members demonstrated a wide difference of opinion on such issues as sending U. S. troops to Europe.

Some of them called for unity and urged a damper on "mere obstructionism." Others said that "me-tooism" had cost the party elections in the past.

There were new attacks on Secretary of State Acheson and several GOP speakers defended Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) and his attacks on Communists in government.

Democrats brought McCarthy under fire in Senate debate in Washington yesterday and Senators Hugh Butler (R-Neb.) and Langer (R-N. D.) sprang to his defense.

On the first anniversary of McCarthy's Lincoln Day speech at Wheeling, W. Va., which started the Communist-in-government fireworks, Senator Kilgore (D-W. Va.) demanded that the Wisconsin senator "come to bat" with proof of his accusations.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the 1948 GOP presidential nominee, fired a blast in a New York City speech last night against Republicans who would limit aid to western Europe as Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and former President Herbert Hoover have suggested.

Pennsylvania's new senator and former governor—James H. Duff—who said he will not be a GOP presidential candidate in 1952, declared the party must formulate "positive and affirmative, not merely negative and critical," policies. He said it must put this ahead of fighting to line up delegates for the presidential nomination.

Ice Gorge Causes Flood Threat in Boro

Allegheny River Rises Over Two Feet In Hour Following Jam In Stream West of Town

The Allegheny river staged another of its brief, but nonetheless spectacular ice and water shows around noon today, with residents in the flood zones of the borough as an unwilling audience.

The huge jumble of ice, which has choked the river channel for the past couple of weeks, finally broke loose around 11 a. m. today as rising temperatures softened the six-inch-thick cakes.

The ice flow started moving downstream, but jammed again at a point just upstream from the airport, where the river makes a wide sweeping curve toward the cement road in Pleasant township.

The jam held, water backed up rapidly behind the jam. The gauge at the Hickory street bridge this morning at 8 o'clock read 9 feet, 4 inches. The stream had risen slowly throughout the morning until it was around the 11 foot mark. Then when the jam broke loose, and caught again, the water level climbed two feet in less than an hour to reach the 13 foot mark about 12:45. Flood stage at Warren is 12½ feet.

River valley residents flocked to the river bank to watch the rapidly rising stream, and were all set to start moving furniture and getting things in as good shape as possible for an expected flood.

Then, as suddenly as the ice had jammed, it started moving again, and a great gush of water spread out over the flat land near the Warren airport, relieving a lot of pressure that had mounted from the backed up water.

Within a matter of minutes, the stream level dropped to 12½ feet and was still falling at 1:30 p. m. this afternoon.

Many persons, who watched the ice break loose near the airport, got in their cars and drove to the FN crossing to watch the ice flow around the big curve. The river near the crossing is also choked with heavy ice, although farther downstream near the Penec plant it is clear.

Veteran river observers said if the ice doesn't jam again near the crossing, the stream will clear itself of ice without much further trouble. However, should another (Turn to Page Seven)

A meeting will be held Thursday evening at eight o'clock at firemen's hall in Russell by the Warren County Civil Defense group for the purpose of organizing the district, comprising the townships of Farmington, Pine Grove and Elk, known as District No. 2.

It is proposed at the meeting to organize the district completely and every resident of the area is not only invited but urged to be present.

Russian Charges Will be Debated Today in Assembly

Lake Success, Feb. 13—(P)—Two Russian charges of American aggression against Communist China came up for final disposition by the United Nations general assembly today.

They have already been rejected overwhelmingly by the 60-nation political committee, with only the five Soviet bloc countries voting for them. The same fate awaits them today.

The first Russian resolution charges that President Truman's order to the seventh fleet sailing off Formosa constitutes aggression against Red China. It was defeated in committee 49 to 5 with Burma, Indonesia and Yugoslavia abstaining.

The second alleges that American planes flew 328 sorties over Manchuria killing 16 persons and injuring hundreds thus committing deliberate aggression against Communist China. It was defeated in committee 50-5 with Burma and Yugoslavia abstaining.

The U. S. said that the Formosa order was given to prevent the spread of the Korean conflict and that any flight over Manchuria were accidental. It offered compensation for damages.

Even India, generally considered Communist China's best non-Communist friend, refused to endorse the charges against the U. S.

The assembly is expected to refuse to debate the items again formally, but lengthy "explanations of vote" can be expected from the Soviet bloc delegates.

Also on the agenda for today's meeting is a decision on where the assembly should meet next year.

104 YEARS OLD
Westfield, N. J., Feb. 13—(P)—Mrs. Katherine Greensale Lyon will be 104 today, she said, to good food, a little walking and a wee nip of whiskey each night before going to bed. Reached yesterday at the home of her daughter where she lives, the spry old lady said no special celebration was planned—just a few close friends to help eat a large birthday cake.

Westfield, N. J., Feb. 13—(P)—The Civil Defense package was placed into a position for a vote after the lower chamber returned the anti-sabotage bill to the judiciary committee last night.

The big objection to the anti-sabotage measure was directed at a provision making mandatory the death penalty in instances of industrial sabotage.

Governor Risks Major Setback For His Administration in Cabinet Squabble

Harrisburg, Feb. 13—(P)—Gov. John S. Fine risked the first major setback of his administration in seeking senate confirmation of at least part of his cabinet today.

The governor asked a showdown vote on approval of his appointment of department heads—minus the name of Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, storm center of the cabinet fight.

Minority whip John J. Haluska (D-Cambria) said the 20-vote Democratic bloc is as solid as ever in opposing confirmation unless Fine submits the name of an attorney general.

And Fine's top senate aide, Majority Leader John M. Walker (R-Allegheny), refused to predict that the governor will win out in his showdown move. Republicans control the senate, 30 seats to 20, but 34 votes are necessary for confirmation of the governor's appointment.

Fine contradicted—"Absolutely no," he said—a rumor that he would send to the senate the name of Judge Robert E. Woodside of Dauphin county as his attorney general.

Haluska indicated that Woodside likely would be acceptable to the Democrats.

Democratic objections to Margiotti are based on the attorney general's investigation of "free work" charges in Democratic-controlled Pittsburgh. Indictments charging several Pittsburgh officials with accepting work on their homes by city employees were returned by a grand jury last week.

Fine is expected to ask the Republican-dominated senate executive nominations committee to send out for floor action only a few of the 15 cabinet appointees, probably led by the name of former State Senator Andrew J. Sordani.

Sordani is Fine's choice for secretary of commerce and his priority listing is to take advantage of "senatorial courtesy."

FINANCING PLAN FOR SCHOOL DISTRICTS

Harrisburg, Feb. 13—(P)—A long-range financing plan expected to start a boom in school building construction in Pennsylvania reached the general assembly today.

The measure, sponsored by Reps. William R. McMillen (R-Indiana) and Albert E. Madigan (R-Bradford), would permit school districts to use the municipal authority plan to undertake school construction.

New Induction Orders Issued for Students

Washington, Feb. 13—(P)—Selective Service told local draft boards today they may cancel induction orders for college and high school students who intend to enlist and apply for cancellation before school is out.

The students, in making a written application, must also give written notice that they wish to enlist in the branch of service of their choice.

Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey said the draft boards at the same time will grant a 30-day postponement period for such students, to commence at the end of the statutory postponement—that is, on the last day of school. Draft age students now in high school or college have been given blanket postponement of induction until the end of the school term.

Paradox of Too Much and Too Little Water Causes Emergency Restrictions

Columbia, Feb. 13—(P)—Emergency restrictions were tightened today in this town of 12,000 plagued by a paradox of too much and too little water.

The cause of all the trouble is a giant ice jam in the Susquehanna river which last Friday flooded wide areas and disabled the local water works. Since then the community has drawn its limited water supply, for drinking and other essential uses, from neighboring cities and towns.

In order to provide a measure of relief, authorities rolled into action yesterday "operation waterlift," to deliver hundreds of thousands of gallons of water.

Enemy Still Has Plenty Of Manpower and Supplies Gen. MacArthur Warns After Visit

Tokyo, Feb. 13—(P)—Chinese Communists shifted the direction of their massive attack in central Korea today and headed down mountain corridors in an effort to split Allied lines between Wonju and Yoju.

General MacArthur visited the western front and warned on his return to Tokyo that the enemy still has plenty of manpower and supplies.

The first Red onslaughts dented Allied lines as much as 18 miles and swept United Nations forces out of the road center of Hoengsong, 10 miles north of Wonju and 50 air miles east of Seoul.

But this apparently was only the eastern wing of a heavier attack now gathering momentum.

Leadoff columns of at least seven Chinese divisions massed in the area west of Hoengsong and north of Chipyong struck southward Tuesday. They slipped past Chipyong, 19 miles west of Hoengsong, and headed down two mountain valleys toward the Wonju-Yoju road.

The Chinese were moving in bands numbering up to 1,000 men. They ran into a fury of Allied air attacks.

Allied Air Force, Marine and Navy planes combined in low-level strikes aimed to break up the mounting threat to the main east-west road in northern South Korea.

Once in possession of the road, the Reds would be in position to strike east or west behind Allied lines. They would menace the four or more divisions along the western front in the Seoul area, and 10th Corp Units holding the central front line near Wonju.

Allied air power seared one band of 1,000 Reds moving down the western-most of the two valleys near Sokking. They hit with flaming Napalm jelled gasoline and machineguns. Pilots estimated they killed 300 of this group.

Allied planes also hit two other groups—about 400 Reds 10 miles northeast of Yoju and another 100 skirting Chipyong.

In addition to hitting the Chinese, Allied aircraft also destroyed quantities of ammunition and supplies left behind when the Hoengsong perimeter collapsed. Some field artillery, heavy mortars and ammunition were showered with flaming gasoline bombs before the Chinese had a chance to salvage the Allied weapons.

For the first time Red tanks were reported moved in to bolster the Communist defenses along the north shore of the Han and inside Seoul. Allied air claimed two tanks destroyed.

Some of the tanks were British that had been abandoned in previous action.

Southeast of the Han, savage local fights flared.

Fresh Allied troops jumped off early Tuesday and gained 2½ miles east of embattled Sansong. They seized five important hills.

Compromise Directive Discussed For Sending Number of Troops to Europe

Washington, Feb. 13—(P)—A possible compromise directive by congress for the sending of a "reasonable" number of troops to western Europe was discussed in administration circles today.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.), of the senate foreign relations committee, was reported predicting to administration colleagues that his group and the senate armed services committee will approve troops-to-Europe legislation without strings.

Hearings begin on the issue Thursday with Secretary of Defense Marshall and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, as the first witnesses.

There were signs that Connally as well as some others would like to get the sort of strengthened support for such a resolution that might come from a concession to present fence-sitters.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has taken over leadership of the fight to pin down—possibly by a percentage limitation—the number of American divisions that could be supplied to the North Atlantic defense force headed by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

He probably would not be satisfied with any mere statement by congress that the United States would furnish only a "reasonable" proportion of that force. Connally apparently doesn't want to go even that far, but might be persuaded if he thought he could pick up some senate strength by doing so.

This is a fight the administration wants to win by as big a vote as possible, for the moral value any such victory would have in Europe.

TIMES-MIRROR DOLLAR DAYS

Mean More to You Than Ever Before!

Practically every newspaper in the country has been forced to increase subscription rates during the past few months and most of them are charging straight 5c per copy for home delivery either by carrier or by mail.

The Times-Mirror has held off making any subscription increase as long as possible, but due to conditions beyond our control such as greatly increased cost of white paper, wire service, wages, ink, type metal, in fact everything entering into the publication of a daily newspaper, we are forced to make a slight increase in the delivered price of the Times-Mirror.

An item of expense in the publication of the Times-Mirror, and one that has met with much favorable comment from subscribers, is the one of home town pictures, which have been appearing daily in the Times-Mirror for more than a year. The total annual increase in subscription revenue will hardly pay what it costs to photograph and reproduce the home town pictures.

The present rate by carrier and by mail, outside the 1st and 2nd zones is $10.00 per year. The new rate, which goes into effect March 1, 1951, will be $11.00 per year, or 4½c per copy. In the first and 2nd zones the present mail rate is $7.00 per year. The new rate will be $8.00, 3⅓c per copy. The over-the-counter price remains at 5c.

By taking advantage of the Dollar Day saving the home delivered and by mail price outside the 1st and 2nd zones will be 3½c. The Dollar Day price by mail in the 1st and second zones will be 2⅓c. We have been informed that postage on newspapers is to be drastically increased. If you were paying at the rate of 5c per copy, your annual subscription would be $12.75.

This will be your last opportunity to pay at the old rate. You can pay as many years as you desire at the present rate, less $1.00 off for each year for Dollar Days.

By paying your subscription now at the old rate you save a dollar on each yearly subscription and with the dollar discount for Dollar Day you save two dollars on each yearly subscription paid.

The over-the-counter price will remain at 5c per copy.

Loophole Reported Found In Corry's Zoning Legislation

Corry Journal: In the wake of last Saturday's announcement that the Atlantic Refining Co. has obtained a 30-day option to purchase the Corry Hospital site, building and nurses' home, a ripple of rumors flowed throughout the city over the weekend.

Most widely circulated of these reports, which were told and retold despite the fact there was no official confirmation, was that there's a "loophole" in the city's two-year-old zoning ordinance.

This claim is based on the assumption that the huge oil concern will appeal to the Zoning Board to establish a gasoline station although there has been no definite statement to that effect from the company.

The claim of a loophole is based on the word "another" in the following excerpt from the zoning ordinance: "No appeal, however, shall be considered by the Board of Appeals if the granting of the same would permit another filling station in a residential district of the City of Corry, excepting only a 'D' Residential District, and in that case only after a careful investigation by the Board, and the granting of an appeal shall be subject to any restrictions imposed by the Board."

Last Saturday City Solicitor Scott stated the Zoning Board could not consider any appeal from the Atlantic company because of the section quoted above.

However, persons vitally interested in what development is made of the hospital site, were pointing out today that the Atlantic company already operates three service stations in the city.

Town Meeting is Held at Sheffield To Discuss Transportation for Students

Sheffield, Feb. 13—Residents of Mill street were in attendance last night at the meeting of the Sheffield township school board with a petition requesting that the school board provide school bus transportation for the 75 children of that area to Lincoln grade school. Reason for the petition, they stated, was due to the heavy traffic on that street and the lack of sidewalks.

They were informed of a state law prohibiting transportation of pupils living within two miles of the schoolhouse. County Superintendent of Schools H. L. Blair who was present at the meeting, said he would write to Harrisburg to learn if financial assistance could be obtained. The board decided to contact the township supervisors regarding the foot-bridge which could be used by the students and which would shorten their walk to school. The supervisors are to be asked to repair the bridge provided the right-of-way could be obtained from the adjoining property owners.

The point was brought out that the street is used frequently by the pupils when not in school such as when walking to the movies. The board members felt that pupils at the far end of West Main street, Deerlick street students and Barnes pupils too, should be transported to their respective schools should the Mill street children be transported.

Regarding the supervising principal question before the school board there was no discussion pending word from the Parent-Teacher associations in Sheffield as to whether they still are in favor of a supervising principal if taxes would have to be boosted. According to County Superintendent Blair, salary of a good supervising principal would be between five and six thousand dollars a year.

Awards were made to 14 Cub Scouts at their Blue and Gold dinner last night held in the Odd Fellows hall with 104 Cub Scouts and parents present. Special guest was the Sheffield Boy Scout Commissioner, James Shick.

As the program there were acts of magic and juggling by Robert Hart of Warren, and formerly of Sheffield.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary will meet tonight at the home of Mrs. Robert A. Persche, at 8 p. m. Miss Helen Kujava and Miss Harriet Rice will serve the refreshments.

Mrs. Harold Stover, of Church street, will be hostess at her home to the meeting tonight of the Philathea Class of the First Methodist church. Members are to bring a hanky for their secret pal's Valentine gift to this 8 p. m. meeting.

A collection will be made for the evangelistic workers dinner held by the class last Tuesday night.

Mrs. Nick Petchel, Mrs. Charles Tubbs and Miss Edith Chamberlain will have the program. Mrs. Donald Huber, Mrs. Harry Lewis and Miss Genevieve Boardman will serve the refreshments.

Pfc. John Crisman, Camp Atterbury, Ind., spent the weekend visiting his parents, the Arnold Crismans.

Robert Work left today with a contingent from Warren for induction in Erie into the armed forces. He had reported for his physical some time ago and had been waiting for his order to report. Work volunteered to go into service before his call arrived.

The Sheffield Rod and Gun club will hold its regular meeting tonight at 8 p. m., after which a lunch will be served. Members are asked to bring a Valentine for Red Hoser. The road to the clubhouse has been well plowed and Bull Hill road is well cindered.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Smiley today are observing their 56th wedding anniversary. They were married on Friday, Feb. 13, 1895.

Tonight Sheffield goes to Emporium for their second encounter of the league season. Sheffield won the first game 42 to 39.

Clifton, owned and operated the Rean Hurst Inn, two miles north of Findley Lake for 20 years.

FIREBALL REPORTED

Kane Republican: Scores of Kane residents had telephone lines buzzing at 6:15 p. m. Saturday when a large "fireball" zoomed across the sky from East to West. The meteor was reported to have disintegrated near Erie. A number of the fireballs have been reported in the past few years with scientists tracing their progress across the country. According to their theories the meteors—or "fireballs" as they are known, get hotter as they near the earth and change color from the fire-red point where they become white and then disappear as they disintegrate in a flash of white light. The Saturday evening "fireball" was noted almost simultaneously over this entire area, indicating the tremendous speed the meteor flashed across the clear sky. It was held extremely rare for a fireball to be visible at such an early hour.

On Saturday the mercury covered a range of 45 degrees on the official weather bureau thermometer, going from 15 below in the early morning to 30 above in the afternoon. night was 40 degrees. Sunday's thaw left area highways in a treacherous condition with pools of water lying on ice-encrusted roads. The city's southside slopes could not be traveled in many places last night and cinders had very little effect on the ice.

Gala Program Enjoyed by Foremen and Wives

Members of the Warren Foremen's Club laid aside their customary serious consideration of the various problems of industry and business last night to honor their wives and sweethearts with a gala Ladies Night program.

The entertainment featured an eight-act variety show, with the club drawing heavily on its own membership and friends to round out the program.

Other acts on the variety show, which was MC'ed by Chris Pepke, included a dancing doll tap by Clifford Briggs, duets by Florence Stevens and Monroe Marshall, solos by Susan Lawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Lawson, by Jane Munn, and chalk talk centered on a Lincoln's birthday theme by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Haight. A Gettysburg Address contest was won by Grace Munn.

Clem Wolstencroft led group singing with Lyn Keller at the piano. Wall drawings featuring familiar scenes from the life of Lincoln featured the decorations, and a display of bedroom furniture was set up by the Penn Forest Furniture Co. of Sheffield.

A healthy childhood is the basis for a healthy adult life. Little Lee Horton, age four, of 108 74th Avenue, Houston, Texas, was deficient in Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron and just didn't have any appetite at all. His father, Mr. F. W. Horton, said that they just couldn't get Lee to eat. Then they heard about HADACOL on the radio, and decided to try it for Lee. After taking HADACOL, said Mr. Horton, Lee's appetite picked up and he started eating three hearty meals a day. Now Lee has gained weight, has more energy, and never has to be coaxed to eat.

Here is Mr. Horton's own statement: "Lee was very weak and run-down and just didn't want to eat at all. We heard about HADACOL on the radio and decided that was what Lee needed. After he started taking HADACOL his appetite picked up right away. He started gaining weight and eats real well now, and has been feeling real good. Today's Business Mirror

BY SAM DAWSON

New York. —(AP)—The cost of living will keep on going up. The price czar admits it today by announcing a new deadline for halting the rise—next summer, he hopes.

Business wonders if he can make a new deadline stick. Food prices are still largely uncontrolled. Any articles of clothing are coming out from the freezer because they are needed by the armed forces and their production is encouraged.

And there is talk that union leaders are planning to test the "flexibility" policy of the wage control program by working for a 10th round of wage hikes. One talking point will be that the workers' cost of living keeps rising, and he must have more pay to meet it.

Many industrialists and businessmen have been taking for granted all along that the present price line can't be held—or won't be held.

A long list of spokesmen have been warning that the prices of finished products in their industries will have to go on higher. The inflationary pressure at the raw material level is still working its way up through the processing industries to the distributors and the merchants.

Retailers have been promised a new office of price stabilization order permitting them to raise prices. The order will permit them to add their traditional mark-ups to the goods they are now buying from their suppliers at higher price levels than they paid for most of the goods now on their shelves.

The government may be getting ready to take another try at halting inflation by further tightening of credit. Economic Stabilizer Johnston warns that while he hopes to halt the rise of prices by summer, the "cause of price and wage gyrations" must be secured first through tighter credit controls. The aim: to dry up purchasing power—the consumer with less money in his pocket won't be so willing to pay higher prices.

In the meantime, the cost of living is not marking time. Dun and Bradstreet says its wholesale food price index continues its climb this week. It is now 21 per cent higher than it was when war started in Korea, and it is approaching its all-time high of July, 1948.

All cash grains except corn advanced in price yesterday, and Chicago livestock prices were sharply higher. Weather and the railroad strike were the immediate reasons for the advance. There are no price curbs on farm products to halt such price increases.

A long list of wools and textiles came out of the freezer yesterday. Because military orders have been held up since the general price freeze, with suppliers declining to bid while uncertain about the ruling, the office of price stabilization freed from price controls certain wool and worsted yarns and textiles. The military will get the needed apparel, and prices will doubtless go higher.

And still another prediction of prices on men's clothing comes. A jump of about $5 in the price of suits and overcoats this spring, and another $10 next fall, is seen by the president of Eagle Clothes, Inc.

MURDER FILES PLEA

A hearing will be held February 20 by the Pennsylvania Board of Pardons on an application of Giuseppe Farriano, who was convicted of first degree murder in McKean county court in 1937. Joseph Nissley, secretary of the board, has announced that the hearing will be scheduled in the Supreme Court room at 9 a. m. Farriano was convicted of the shotgun killing of his wife in their Westline home in a 14-day trial in which testimony of the 11-year-old son of the couple was largely responsible for the conviction. Farriano testified that he had sent for his wife and two children in Italy and that they had arrived in this country one two months prior to the shooting. He said he was cleaning his shotgun when the boy asked him how it worked. He said he loaded the gun and unloaded it, but did not get all the shells pumped out. He said he was continuing the cleaning job when a cloth tangled the trigger and fired the blast into Mrs. Farriano who was standing only a few feet away.

Columnist Pays Tribute to Work Of Salvation Army

The following written by Guy Walker, for "The Rossville Press" under the heading "The Big Texan Was Right," is a vivid testimonial for the work the Salvation Army, one of the nine member agencies in the Warren Community Chest, is doing on Korean battle fronts:

Yesterday it was my privilege to visit a soldier boy who had lately returned from the Korean front, where he was seriously wounded.

He would say very little about the war, but he became really glib in his praise of The Salvation Army field workers. But let him tell it himself:

"We were licked and everyone knew it. Likewise we were cold, tired and hungry. That long and tedious retreat over the mountains had taken all the strength we possessed. (If you have ever been shot at you'll get what I mean.)

Croupette Is Latest Equipment Given To Hospital By The Women's Auxiliary

The Women's Auxiliary of Warren General Hospital will meet in the nurses' home at 1:30 p. m. Friday for a sewing bee and extends a cordial invitation to interested friends to join them for the work bee.

The Auxiliary has been very active in the first six months of its organization-year, about 857 articles having been completed so far.

A new piece of equipment is provided by the auxiliary for the hospital's use each year, a "croupette" being the latest addition. The "croupette" is a high humidity oxygen tent which has proved very effective in the treatment of croup, a disease which has been prevalent this past year.

Members of the organization have also voted to furnish a room in the new addition to the hospital.

Another project in the current year is the new Memorial Book for doctors of the county, a plan which is receiving immediate response from the public. Mrs. W. T. Davidson is Memorial Book chairman and Mrs. F. A. Beardsley, Auxiliary president, reports a number of money gifts have already been received for the fund.

Miss Mildred Blair and Mrs. Paul Braunschweiger have been appointed to fill vacancies as directors of circles.

Anyone interested in the work of this organization will be welcome at any of the meetings, which are held the first and third Friday afternoons of each month on the third floor of the nurses' home, starting at 1:30 o'clock. Tea is served by the hospital for the meetings.

Here Are Four Basic Rules For a Successful Marriage

THERE is more to successful marriage than just steering clear of the divorce courts.

To help create a marriage really satisfactory to both partners, a wife should never overlook the importance of these four points:

One. That the couple have fun together. There is so much hard work and responsibility in any marriage that a couple should never forget the importance of planning for some carefree fun once in a while.

Two. That the couple always have a worthwhile goal to work toward. Without a definite goal to plan for and work toward a couple soon come to feel that they are on a treadmill, working hard but getting nowhere. As soon as one goal is achieved, another should be set up.

Three. That they enjoy their children. Modern parents are often so conscientious about their children that they worry over them far more than they enjoy them. Yet children are around to be enjoyed only a few years. While they still look to their parents for companionship is the time to enjoy them and get an occasional glimpse of the world through the fresh and interested viewpoint of a child.

IT'S ALL IN THE POINT OF VIEW

A WELL-KNOWN cartoonist once told me that he never went for a walk with his six-year-old daughter without discovering many things he would never have noticed had he been by himself.

Four. That they keep broadening their interests—rather than narrowing them as the years go by.

A husband and wife who are interested in a number of things aren't likely to bore each other or their friends. And they don't find time to be lonely or to brood over their troubles.

The wife who sees to it that her marriage measures up in those four ways is doing a lot to give some meaning to every-day living.

Indigestion? Heart Disease!

Heart disease very often strikes swiftly and with little warning.

One rarely expects it, and yet it might have been prevented if the heart had been given earlier care. Too often a slight heart attack is self-diagnosed as "indigestion" and the advice of a physician is postponed at a very important time. Self-diagnosing of ailments is all too common—the only logical step to take is to the office of your family doctor. He can help you best.

If he prescribes a prescription, we offer you our skill and complete fresh stock as a logical way to cooperate with the advice of your doctor and his plan for helping you.

Prayer Day Service At Grace Church

World Day of Prayer was observed in Grace Methodist church by the Warren Council of Church Women, with a good attendance. Cooperating churches were North Warren Presbyterian and Salem Evangelical United Brethren.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Leroy Hammerbeck and devotions were conducted by Mrs. Robert Knapp, using the Day of Prayer theme, "Perfect Love." Mrs. Dwight Silze was piano accompanist for the hymns sung in unison and Carol Barrett was at the piano for the soloist, Phyllis Ristau, who sang beautifully, "Come Ye Blessed of My Father."

Mrs. Sherman Epler, Kane, was presented as guest speaker in an address based on "Perfect Love Casteth Out Fear." She stated that the answer to all the fears folks have in the present day is love for God and faith in Him, prayer and more prayer. Prayer results in power and poise, she asserted in her concluding remarks.

Mrs. J. E. Walters gave the offertory prayer and an offering of $66.10 was received by the ushers, Mrs. Lewis Garber, Mrs. Emmett Huck, Mrs. Leroy Johnson and Mrs. Henry Baldensperger. This amount is to be used for the fund providing scholarships, for migrant workers, literature, to help the American Indians, and colleges in the Orient.

The chairman, Mrs. A. R. Schultze, announced the March meeting will be held in the First Lutheran church, with the First Evangelical United Brethren church cooperating.

Following the closing prayer by Mrs. Epler, tea was served, with Mrs. Carl Jones and Mrs. C. W. Baldwin presiding at a table beautifully decorated in the Valentine motif.

JOINT PTA MEETING AT LANDER SCHOOL

Lander, Feb. 13—There was a good turnout last evening for the joint meeting of Sugar Grove and Farmington grade and high school PTA groups, held in the local school. Mrs. Arvid Gruber presided and Mrs. Perry Thelin conducted the devotions.

During the business session, a report showed $63.53 in the treasury and it was voted to give $10 to the Senior Girl Scouts, sponsored by the PTA. A Founders' Day collection taken amounted to $10.10.

For the program, a Founders' Day reading was given by Mrs. Lynn Burgett; the March twins, Donald and Dorothy, sang two numbers, "Put on Your Old Gray Bonnet" and "School Days"; and Herbert Malm, superintendent of the Gustavus Adolphus Home in Jamestown, spoke concerning the management of the home and the children. He also displayed some of the children's handcraft projects. Fred Bauer, of the Sugar Grove school faculty, emphasized the need for donors for the Red Cross Blood Program and a number of persons signed pledge cards.

To conclude, lunch was served by a committee consisting of Mrs. Homer Lindell, Mrs. Grant Childs, Mrs. Arvid Gruber, Mrs. Dale Skinner, Mrs. Floyd Marsh and Mrs. Roscoe Knapp.

Defense Officials Consider Purchase Of Raid Warnings

County defense officials this morning received word from the state civil defense headquarters concerning purchase of sirens and air raid warning signals in Pennsylvania.

Local officials have delayed purchase of sirens until it was known what arrangements were to be made for their purchase.

According to the word received today by Judge Allison D. Wade, county defense coordinator, standard specifications have been set up by the Federal government and issuance of these specifications will be made to the various states within the next few days.

The Federal government is also to match funds provided by the states for the purchase of warning signals, but Congress has not yet made the necessary appropriations.

Therefore, local defense officials are advised by state headquarters to delay placing orders for warning sirens until further information is received from Washington.

Defense Program Placed in Position For Vote in House

Committee in effect retains the present maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

But Rep. Charles C. Smith, Republican floor leader, said the Republican majority has no intention of letting the bill die in committee.

Two changes are planned, he said, to meet criticism raised by the AFL-Pennsylvania Federation of Labor.

One would permit the courts, after a jury trial, to sentence saboteurs to either a jail term and a fine or to death, depending on the gravity of the crime.

The other would exempt sabotage crimes from the statute of limitations, permitting prosecution even if the offenses are uncovered six or more years afterwards.

The remainder of the civil defense program deals with a blueprint of coping with air raids or other enemy attacks.

One would set up a 10-member State Civil Defense Council for which Fine already has proposed Dr. Theodore A. Distler, president of Franklin and Marshall College, as chairman.

Enemy Still Has Plenty of Manpower

Sansong—500-year-old refuge of Korean kings southeast of Seoul—Allied foot soldiers failed for the third day to wipe out a suicide Chinese force. The Reds were dug in on a nob just inside the mossy walls.

MacArthur, who visited the front lines near Seoul on his flying trip to Korea, said on his return to Tokyo, that United Nations forces are fighting the only kind of war they can. He described it as an aggressive local campaign.

The massed Red forces sprang upon five Allied columns late Sunday night in a typical Communist-style attack. The shrill blare of bugles and roll of drums signaled the onslaught. The Reds struck through snowy mountain passes and valleys with elements of two to six Chinese armies and two Red Korean corps.

Once again the Chinese were attempting to smash and encircle Allied forces with sheer masses of manpower.

Confused, bitter fighting swirled all day and night Monday throughout the Hoengsong area. Finally two U. S. Second Division battalions and a South Korean regiment fought their way out of Hoengsong.

Between the Allied forces on the central and western fronts, U. S. Ninth Corps artillerymen pumped shells into Red-held areas where the Communists were believed massing for another big-scale attack.

MacArthur on another of his occasional visits to the Korean battlefield stood Tuesday on the south bank of the Han river and watched Allied artillery and planes pound Red-occupied Seoul.

From his vantage point he could see the dome of the old South Korean capitol building.

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U. S. Eighth army commander, may have anticipated the Red central front drive when he sent his tank-led forces into the Seoul area. He may be able to spring a trap of his own on the Reds if they succeed in getting far enough south.

Reappointment Is Before Legislature

Harrisburg, Feb. 13—(P)—The task of reappointing Pennsylvania's congressional districts may extend the 1951 legislative session into the summer months.

Sen. G. Graybill Diehm (R-Lancaster), chairman of the senate's reappointment committee, said official figures from the U. S. Census bureau may be unavailable for several months.

"We may not get them until the early summer," said Diehm. "We cannot write a bill without the final official figures."

Diehm said his group has the tentative census figures and "can go ahead with planning new districts on that basis."

Pennsylvania's 30 congressmen would have to be elected at large in 1952 if a bill is not passed. The state now has 33 congressmen.

THE MARKETS

New York, Feb. 13—(P)—Continued demand for aircraft issues buoyed the stock market today. The big defense industries shot ahead by around $2 a share right from the opening of trading. They were the feature in the short Saturday session. The remainder of the market responded sluggishly with gains generally held below a one dollar ceiling. Scattered losses were fractional.

Prime props under the aircrafts were the proposal for a two-for-one Douglas stock split and a plan for a 20 per cent United Aircraft stock dividend. A heavy volume of business at the opening resulted in the quotations taping dropping behind briefly in reporting transactions from the floor of the stock exchange. The movement of a number of large blocks added to the total. Largest was the block of 8,000 Curtiss-Wright which changed hands unchanged at 12.

F. E. P. C. Measure Will Be Discussed

Harrisburg, Feb. 13—(P)—An administration-sponsored bill to establish a fair employment practice commission was scheduled for discussion here today by FEPC supporters.

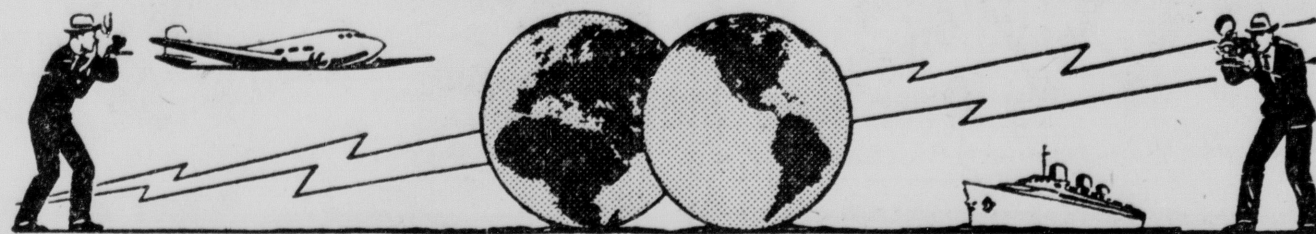

The bill already has been introduced in the state house of representatives by Rep. Lewis M. Mintess (R-Phila.).

Clarence E. Pickett, chairman of the state council for a Pennsylvania FEPC, said the bill contains much of the language his organization proposed but with "certain changes and omissions."

Pickett said the bill would set up a three-man commission under jurisdiction of the department of labor and industry whereas his group proposed establishment of an independent five-man commission.

He said the bill also failed to include the $800,000 two-year appropriation proposed by the council representing 42 organizations.

TAKE IT EASY!—U.S. engineers, cautiously handling a mine detector on a road in South Korea, are on the lookout for explosives buried by the Communists. An unlucky GI can easily be blown to pieces if he happens to step on one of the mines planted for that purpose.

DINING OUT—A bevy of chefs in San Juan, Puerto Rico, puts the finishing touches to the favorite native picnic—roast suckling pig, spitted for several hours over a coal fire. The fortunate guests will eat it at tables on the beach, followed by a siesta in the sun and all the swimming they can take.

OVER THE PLATE—Cy Young, left, the only pitcher ever to win more than 500 games and a member of Baseball's Hall of Fame, talks over present day pitching with Pfc. Curt Simmons at the annual All-Sports banquet in Harrisburg. Simmons, Pennsylvania's Athlete of the Year and star southpaw of the Philadelphia Phillies, went into service with the 28th National Guard Division.

MOVING ON—Baby Pansy, an 11-month-old gorilla in Cleveland, will be getting her mail at a new address in the future. Brought back to Ohio by a zoo expedition, Baby Pansy has been raised by Dr. Wallace Wendt, a veterinarian who has received his duty orders from the Air Force. Now the little gorilla will have to be placed under the care of another physician.

PUTTING ON THE HEAT—Cpl. Thomas Steed, Moline, Kans., uses a blowtorch to melt down some grease for a lubrication job in the sub-zero weather of central Korea. Present weather conditions are one of the worst features of the winter fighting that is facing UN troops.

DIFFERENT—Fire engine red over navy blue is the color of actress Jane Greer's daytime ensemble. The unique, long-waisted middy blouse is of sheer red organdie and permits the tucked waistline of the dress to show through.

DIAMOND ANNIVERSARY—Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, Assistant Secretary of Defense, lights a candle as the YMHA and the YWHA in Philadelphia mark their 75th anniversary. With her are Morrie Wolf, seated, Raymond A. Speiser, standing, left, and Harry A. Takiff. Mrs. Rosenberg was the guest of honor.

SOMETHING NEW—The Navy's newest helicopter, the Piasecki HUP-1, is shown making its first service flight as pilots of HU-2 Helicopter Squadron, Naval Air Station in Lakehurst, N.J., get checked out in the high-performing shipboard helicopters. Large numbers of HUP's are on order for a wide variety of fleet uses.

WRAPPED IN RIBBON—Ruth Roman is all dressed up in fancy ribbons for Valentine's Day in Hollywood. She's modeling a satin costume bound with strips of narrow ribbon with a matching ribbon bow around her neck to complete the outfit.

MUTUAL ADMIRATION—Dick Klass, ten, and his prize German Draht, "Frau Judy Lowenberg," appear to be engrossed in one another at the Golden Gate Kennel Club's 41st annual show in San Francisco. It's the first time a Draht, a rare breed, has been entered in this show.

Favor Sugar Ray Against LaMotta

Chicago, Feb. 13—(P)—Heavily favored in his five previous scraps with Jake LaMotta, Sugar Ray Robinson again is being backed from 3-1 to 4-1 to snare the Bronx bull's middleweight belt tomorrow night.

The welterweight champion, in the peak of condition, and La Motta battle the scales at 11 a. m., in the official weigh-in tomorrow.

Sugar expects to tip 154 pounds, his top weight, and Jake is confident he will make the 160 limit. He carried 176 a month ago before starting drills for his rival.

If La Motta is over 160, he will be given two hours in which to make weight. If he fails, he will forfeit his middleweight title to Robinson right on the spot and the 15 round bout in Chicago Stadium, starting at 10 p. m., will be little more than an exhibition.

Robinson and LaMotta Styles Make Their Scraps Lively

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

CHICAGO—(NEA)—Jake LaMotta lives only a few blocks from Sugar Ray Robinson in the teeming Bronx. Here is one of the bitterest and most protracted neighborhood rivalries, the kind New York promoters long relished.

And the sixth edition is to be presented at the Chicago Stadium, Feb. 14. Three previous renewals have been staged out of New York—two in Detroit, the last in Chicago, Sept. 26, 1945.

The reasons for this one—the meeting of champions—going to Chicago is that LaMotta, the middleweight monarch, figured he would do better in the Windy City than in Manhattan—financially and professionally. The Bull considers Detroit and Chicago his lucky towns. LaMotta exhibited his usual financial acumen holding out on Robinson until he got 45 per cent.

You take the word of Harry Markson that Robinson settled for 15 per cent.

Again you have it from Managing Director Markson of the International Boxing Club that each participant signed away the television and broadcasting rights for the astonishingly low figure of $1500. "It's part of our package deal," explains Markson.

WBC is Victor Over Jamestown

Warren Business College notched their initial win over the Jamestown Business College in the history of the two teams' rivalry, when they downed the Jimtowners 42-23 on the Y floor over the weekend. In the prelim, the Smith and Lawton Atlantic trounced Mt. Jewett 84-57.

The WBC took a 12-6, first period lead and outscored their opponents in each of the remaining quarters. Bill Weidert was high for the victors with 10 counters, while Mazzone popped 8 points for Jamestown.

In the higher scoring preliminary, John Castagnino hit with 16 field goals, for Atlantic, to take scoring honors for the evening with 32 points. Bill Weidert also racked up 23 points for the Warrenites, while Pitycher was the high pointmaker for Mt. Jewett with 24.

Mt. Jewett matched scoring 24 all in the closing period, but were outplayed in each of the first three sections.

Dick Thompson, Louisiana State U. basketball star who also is regarded as big league pitching material, recently was approached by a baseball "bird dog" ... Identifying himself as an "unofficial talent scout" for an American League club, the visitor asked Southpaw Thompson what was the biggest weakness in pitching. ... "Oh," replied Dick, "I guess my fast ball sort of tires my left arm around the seventh inning." Then, after a thoughtful pause, he added: "But I can finish what's left with my right." ... Dick meant it, too. He's ambidextrous.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Feb. 12—(P)—There must be something in the southwestern atmosphere that impels golfers to get into rhubarbs. ... Latest outburst began at San Antonio when a half-dozen leading pros said they would play in the Mexican open this week instead of at Haringen, Tex. ... And, incidentally, this isn't the first time some stars have tried to duck Haringen. ... About a year ago a somewhat more serious fuss began at Phoenix when a group of the top players decided to leave the PGA cold and strike out for themselves under George Schneider's guidance. ... A golfer of the tournament variety often is a guy whose thinking stops with the buck he hopes to make next week. ... That may be the case in the latest fuss: Mexico looked like easier pickings with less discomfort, or it could be the PGA tournament committee that is being influenced by the sponsor's dough. ... Last year's threatened rebellion certainly was a case of shortsighted players readily falling in with the suggestion that they could get rich quicker if they didn't have to share the dough. ... The equipment manufacturers, who pay the bills and do the thinking, straightened that one out and presumably the players were given more to say about running tourna-

NEW OWNER Takes Over Property of The Columbus Mill

Corry Journal: The Columbus
mill of the Meyerink Milling Co.
has been sold to Mr. and Mrs.
Walter E. Deuschlander of Lancaster, N. Y., from Mr. and Mrs.
Roy Gravink, Rue Button and
Harry Koerselman, all of Clymer.
The new owner will take over operation of the mill, which was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Gravink in 1934, next Monday.
In 1939 Mr. and Mrs. Gravink erected a new mill which burned in a fire that same year. The mill was reconstructed and opened on November 11, 1940 and has been continued since that time. Last year Messrs. Button and Koerselman, veteran employees of the mill at Clymer, became partners in the enterprise.
The sale includes all the property, equipment, milling machinery and delivery truck. Present employees of the concern are Pete Christensen, who has managed it since 1934, Richard Sanders and Glenn Ruger, Jr.
The former owners, who will continue to operate the Clymer mill and truck service to Wattsburg, in expressing appreciation for past patronage from farmers in the Columbus district said the mill under new ownership will continue to offer quality lines of feed and special mixed formulas.
Mr. Deuschlander, a draftsman, and engineer, plans to move his family to Columbus as soon as housing accommodations are obtained.

Special Appeal to Those Who Enroll As Blood Donors is Made by Reporter

In months past, it has been customary for your Red Cross reporter to make public a list of honor roll blood donors. However, in view of a situation which has arisen during the past few visits of the bloodmobile we are going to take a different view of the situation. The 129 people who gave a pint of blood this month and the other men and women who came to the blood center to give blood but were temporarily rejected for various medical reasons, knew before they volunteered that they would earn the respect and thanks of the entire community and the gratitude of men serving in the armed forces. They little care whether or not their names are listed.

Actually, your reporter should list the names of those who volunteered who failed to show up; who failed to notify Red Cross thus making replacements impossible. Many people took the time to telephone; to let somebody know that circumstances beyond their control made donating blood impossible. Those who cancelled courteously also deserve thanks those who had appointments and who apparently had no intention of keeping them, very little can be said.

This giving of blood is a most vital program and no person informed as to the current world crisis can deny the truth in that statement. The Red Cross Blood program has become a matter of life or death both here at home and in Korean battle fields. Those who can give blood are giving it—willingly and as often as possible. Those who have been rejected by bloodmobile physicians are grateful for the care taken in making certain of a donor's fitness to give blood. Men and women temporarily rejected have returned to do his or her part. To those who must assume the responsibility for failure to reach the required quota for Warren County; to those who had appointments but failed to keep or to cancel them; Red Cross officials extend the following suggestion: If you do not intend to keep your date to donate or if you cannot find the means to notify Red Cross of your infor their thoughtfulness. But of ability to show up, please do not volunteer at all.

As for the others—the hundreds who have kept faith with this national program, your Red Cross reporter with everyone connected with the Blood program—plus your friends and neighbors and loved ones; plus the valiant men shedding blood in Korea—thank you for the blood you have given.

SHEFFIELD

Sheffield, Feb. 13—While Americans are looking forward to Valentine's Day this week when they bestow tokens of affection upon their beloved ones, an opportunity to further the meaning of the day will present itself when the Red Cross bloodmobile will appear in Sheffield on March 7. The gift of a pint of blood which may save a life, expresses the true sentiment of Valentine's Day—love for a fellow human being.

Block workers have been busy the past week or so securing the names of persons wishing to contribute a pint of blood at this coming visit or else at a later date. Sheffield has a quota of 150 pints of blood.

The blood, which is made available to hospitals in this area by the Buffalo Regional Red Cross office, is not sold—the only cost is the usual service fee of the physician or hospital administering the blood. Blood for the Warren General Hospital patients is secured only through the Red Cross blood program. It has been learned here that since the Red Cross blood program started last July, 15 Sheffield persons have been recipients of this blood.

While the armed forces in Korea are sent as much blood plasma or whole blood as needed, the Red Cross maintains an adequate supply here for use by the general public.

When you go to give blood a doctor and a nurse check your health—you will not be allowed to give blood if there is any possibility of danger to your health. About 30 minutes is spent in the checkup and actual donation time is about five minutes.

Human blood which has an irreplaceable value in modern medical treatment of the ill and injured has to be secured in this way as it cannot be manufactured in a laboratory. There is no satisfactory substitute for it.

If in doubt whether you are qualified to give blood, contact Mrs. W. H. Rawson or Mrs. Clair Fitzgerald. If you have not been contacted and you would like to contribute a pint of blood, please notify either of the above mentioned women as soon as possible.

Disastrous Flood In Corydon Back In 1918 Recalled

Corydon, Feb. 13—It's safe to say a few local folks have forgotten the disastrous flood which visited Corydon 33 years ago on February 20.

It was back in 1918, that the historic, old Allegheny river elected to change its course and send its tremendous load of ice and flood waters sweeping through Corydon's Main street and a goodly part of the river road.

Homes belonging to the late

S. C. McClintock, F. S. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Jessie Kennedy, Mrs. Maybee, and a summer home belonging to Mrs. Nell J. Caldwell, were completely wiped off their foundations and destroyed along with the following business places:

Corydon post office, E. D. Evert's hardware, S. C. McClintock furniture store and undertaking parlors, and the Frank Fitzpatrick blacksmithing Shop.

'TIS TIME AGAIN TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF DOLLAR DAYS AT TIMES-MIRROR OFFICE Friday and Saturday, Feb. 16th and 17th, when you can save $1.00 on each yearly subscription paid.

2-13-51

The P. B. Canfield store, one of the largest and finest ever erected in the village, was wrecked to such an extent that it was later dismantled and its lumber sold at a very low cost.

Probably at no other time in the history of the town has it ever attracted the crowds of people that visited the scene of the disaster, among them many reporters and photographers who came from nearby and far away places.

Ice stood piled many feet high about the village and huge trees, landmarks, lay uprooted and other sheared off by the ice impact.

One localite, Edward Tome, remembers little about it, having been born the next day February 21, following the removal of his mother, the late Mrs. Bessie Tome, from her flood-surrounded home.

MORE ABOUT ACCIDENT

Corry Journal: Late Saturday, State Police of the Corry substation located Claude Van Guilder, a Torpedo, who told them he had been the driver of a car which was involved in a smashup five miles east of the city on the Corry Spring Creek road. Van Guilder claimed he had left the auto partially on the highway when he skidded off the road and became stuck. Although he declared the parking lights on the vehicle had been left on, officers said they were off when a car driven by Alier Nelson, 40, of Youngstown, crashed into it early Saturday morning. Nelson told police he failed to see the vehicle in the darkness until it was too late to avoid hitting it. Damage to Nelson's car was estimated at $700 and at $100 to the Van Guilder machine.

Chapter 3

PHAN turned to Sergeant Jenkins. "What'd you find on him?" he asked, indicating the body.

"Not much, Lieutenant. There's a white monogrammed handkerchief, seventy-eight cents in small change, thirty-three dollars in bills, a fountain pen, three pencils, a keychain, a silver cigarette case containing eight cigarettes, and a chromium lighter." Jenkins gestured mildly with his notebook. "The bills were in his wallet, which was in his left hip pocket. The change was in his front pants' pocket on the right side."

Phelan shifted his weight indecisively from one foot to the other, then turned and started for the stairs. "We'd better circulate through the building," he said. He started up the steps then paused and peered back. "Percy, come along. You, too, Professor. You still want to visit your friend, don't you?"

Caldwell, who had been standing unobtrusively against the lobby wall, puffing his pipe with apparent disinterest in the activity about him, straightened up and nodded casually. "Thank you, Percy," he murmured. "Professor Thomson is expecting me, and, if you don't mind, I'd like to go directly to his apartment."

"Sure," Phelan agreed. "We'll all go up and see him."

Professor Thomson appeared at his door dressed in a natty blue satin lounging robe.

"Good evening, Doctor!" he greeted Caldwell effusively. "And Bandy! How good it is to see you!" His small spectacled eyes blinked as they took in Phelan and Sergeant Jenkins, but poise gained from years of lecturing to undergraduate classes effectively concealed any surprise he may have felt.

"Good evening, Professor," Caldwell responded. "Our escort wishes to make your acquaintance." He indicated Phelan and Jenkins with a nod. "Lieutenant Percy Phelan and Sergeant Jenkins, who are connected with the Detective Bureau. Professor John Niles Thomson." And, at that, Caldwell turned abruptly and walked into the apartment. Me, I followed.

"The detective bureau?" Thomson exclaimed with apparent delight. "Indeed! This is a great pleasure, Lieutenant! Do come in. And you, Sergeant!"

"Er... Professor Thomson," Phelan began heavily, "this isn't a social call. I'm here on business."

"Really?" Thomson's brows shot up with polite interest. "From the detective bureau, Dr. Caldwell said, didn't he? Most interesting!"

"Yes," Phelan leaned forward and fixed his eyes on Professor Thomson. "Tell me, Professor, what time did you get home this afternoon?"

"Five o'clock!" Thomson gave a pert nod and smiled.

"Did you come up in the elevator?"

"Certainly."

"Were you alone in the elevator?"

"Yes, indeed!"

"Okay." A scowl crossed Phelan's face. "Have you had any visitors since you got home?"

"None at all," Thomson smiled amiably at Caldwell and me and then returned his attention to Phelan.

"Perhaps you wouldn't mind telling us, Professor, what you've been doing?" Phelan glanced at his watch—"for the last two and a half hours."

"With pleasure! Let me see... Upon arriving home, I straightened the apartment. It had been quite thoroughly disarranged by my seminar class which met here last evening. I returned books to their proper shelves, restored photograph albums to the record cabinet, and generally tidied the room. Oh, yes—he raised a forefinger triumphantly—"I also washed and dried several dishes."

"How long did that take?"

"Twenty minutes."

"Exactly?"

"I am both efficient and methodical," Thomson assured Phelan primly.

"Then what'd you do?"

"I bathed."

"At five-twenty in the afternoon?" The expression on Phelan's face betrayed surprise.

"My usual practice," Thomson explained. "I would say that that consumed perhaps another thirty minutes."

"Thirty minutes just for a bath?" Phelan raised his voice incredulously.

"That brings us to five-fifty, doesn't it?" Thomson asked. He dipped his head in a quick nod and went on. "I proceeded to dress, spending at least ten minutes donning fresh linen, changing accessories from one trouser to another, selecting the proper tie, and so on."

"That brings us to six o'clock," Phelan said relentlessly.

"At six o'clock I entered my study."

"You noticed the time?"

"Yes, Lieutenant. You see, it is my habit to spend the hour between six and seven each Thursday evening in my study."

"Doing what?"

"I spend the hour in absolute contemplation."

Caldwell interpolated drily: "Professor Thomson is a Verocruanian, Lieutenant."

"Yeah? What's that?"

"It is a mystic order concerned with mental development and the search for truth," Caldwell explained.

"Do you know Lawrence Straw?" Phelan demanded abruptly of Thomson.

"Straw? Lawrence Straw? I believe there was a Straw—let me see, was his name Lawrence?—in one of my classes. Not last year; perhaps the year previous."

"He was murdered this evening."

"Murdered?" Thomson's eyes widened. "Really?"

"Right outside your door," Phelan added.

"He was murdered between six and six-thirty," Phelan stated grimly.

"Do you know Lawrence Straw?" Phelan asked intently. "With a sudden determined motion, Thomson replaced his spectacles and jumped to his feet. "Lieutenant, my apartment is at your disposal. You have my permission to search for incriminating evidence, as you no doubt desire to do."

"Thanks, Professor, we'll just glance through the place," Phelan said.

Phelan and Sergeant Jenkins went down the hall, turning on lights as they went.
